

Axtria and github Health tech challenge

The background features a light beige color with abstract organic shapes in muted green and terracotta tones. A faint, stylized orange hand icon is positioned behind the text box.

To effectively search for the users working under the same business unit & role: Create a search interface with drop downs to select 1. The business unit, 2. The department/ alternatively provide unique identification code for the business unit & a code for each role and the employees working under it can be sequentially given a number and their unique identification will be a combination of all three codes. This pattern of unique codes will help understand the business units and roles as well from a list of selected users.